

Covenant Ranch Feed Recipes
2011

Dairy Feed:

This recipe was created by my mother for our dairy livestock but we also feed it to our bucks, bulls, horses, sheep, etc.

So my friends, lets get started with this lovely little mix! Have your local grain mill mix this on up for you.

Corn Chop Medium 0.82 Cwt.

Alfalfa Pellets 0.82 Cwt.

Oats 0.82 Cwt.

Kelp Meal Dried 10 Lbs.

Linseed Meal 10 Lbs.

Peas, Maple 10 Lbs.

Sunflower Black 10 Lbs.

Liquid Molasses 15 Lbs.

ADE- 1.5 Lbs

As the years have passed and as availability of grains has changed along with other such things, our feed recipes have changed. Study and research what is the specific needs of your livestock (for example, a chicken is going to have different needs than a horse) and what your local mill has available.

Pregnant Mama:

Pregnant livestock has different needs than a milking mother so we have to change her feed a little. If you care for your livestock well, you will find that your lambs, calves and kids are bigger, stronger, and all around healthier than others in your area. You will notice your ewes, heifers, and does are stronger before, during, and after pregnancy, You will see that you no longer need to assist any of your livestock while they are in labor and other such things. If you are preventative, care is much better and easier than treatment.

So, this is a mix that my mother and I made for our pregnant livestock. It has helped them GREATLY!

Here is the mixture that we use.

- 1 Part Peppermint (highly aromatic and medicinal)
- 1 Part Thyme (highly tonic, antiseptic)
- 1 Part Chamomile (blood cleanser pain reducer, remedy for female ailments)
- 2 Parts Red Raspberry Leaf

Wormer:

This is a great wormer that works well on everything except cats and dogs. It is a good preventative and treatment wormer. Give 1 tablespoon per every 100 lbs of body weight. Add into grain or feed twice a day for seven days then just do it once a week or after a heavy rain. We do a seven day worming once a month.
